Mission Team Guidelines

The following guidelines are suggested for each team member. They should be considered before embarking on a mission trip with Ghana Initiative. These guidelines are based on Romans 14:13-24. We as a ministry strive to represent Christ as we serve. These are not intended to be restrictive in any way but are meant to create harmony with a goal of promoting the work of the Holy Spirit.

While serving on the mission field, questions or disagreements should always go to team leadership and will always be handled confidentially in a Christ like manner. A team member should seek to maintain harmony within the group and be sensitive to others in the group who may not have the same standards or practices. There is no place for judgement or gossip while serving on a Ghana Initiative team. We seek to show the Grace of Jesus Christ to those we serve and our fellow team members.

Unmarried couples should refrain from cohabitating while participating on a mission team. A team member shall refrain from the use of illegal substances while participating on the team. A team member should refrain from excessive consumption of alcohol while serving with Ghana Initiative.
